Party Music

Siti's class was having an end-of-the-year party. Her classmates have settled into clusters and ate together and talked to each other. She didn't know how to join her classmates so she sat in a corner of the room by herself. She put her earphones on and started listening to music. "Adele?" It was Nur, one of her classmates who was often quiet. "I love Adele," she continued, smiling. Siti smiled back and offered Nur one of her earphones.

Siti put her earphones on and started listening to music.

Siti offered one of her earphones to Nur.

Siti sat in a corner of the room by herself.
